April 6, 2020

Dear Family Medicine Specialists Patient,

With the COVID-19 pandemic, we know it is hard to know where you can go for care that keeps you and your loved ones safe.

If you need care for an illness or issue not related to COVID-19 we are happy to provide virtual care, through our telehealth program. Most major insurance companies have committed to providing coverage for telehealth services to help reduce exposure to the virus. Our telehealth services can be used for visits such as: medication check-ups, blood pressure checks (requires home blood pressure cuff), allergies, sinusitis, and more. We continue to provide care in the office for visits for our OB patients, well child exams with immunizations and those visits that need in office attention.

If you think you’ve been exposed to COVID-19 or you’ve developed symptoms associated with COVID-19 (fever, cough, and difficulty breathing), please call our clinic before scheduling an appointment. Proper screening and assessment will occur over the phone at a scheduled time with one of our Physician Assistants. During your call, you will be advised on recommendations. Having you follow these precautions are important, as they help protect others against exposure.

We hope for health and wellness to you and your family.

Family Medicine Specialists
Dr. Nancy Angenend, MD
Dr. Tammy O’Brien, MD
Dr. Jill Flory, MD
Dr. Julie Sterling, MD
Dr. Kate Hopper, MD